- “Poetry is the spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings.” – William Wordsworth

Here in the land of colour, every colour has its own meaning.

Yellow is all about positive feelings.

Blues are for inspiration or wisdom.

Those who receive blues are destined to start a kingdom

Green stands for good life.

Those who get green always stay for long alive.
there are only few colours that are left in the back.
I always wonder why the prejudice was.
I searched the reason but couldn't find the cause beneath the sun ray's. We all stand equal in many ways.

Our heart beats in the same might
Yes, prejudice blind us dimming our inner lights.
All the feelings have the same worth and all a born in the same birth.
So let's educate all with the torch we ignite
and come together with colour prejudice, we fight to Let all the colours live in equal land where every colour stand equal in the colour band. ____T. ANIRUDH
